The Foundling Boy by Michel Déon. Teetering on the brink of the outbreak of World War 2, Jean Arnaud comes of age. He encounters a host of supporting characters; each helping shape the man he is to become. A quirky tale in which the author teasingly whetted my appetite and made me sit up and ask: What happens next?

The Foundling Boy by Miché! Déon (translated by Julian Evans) and brought to the English language by Gallic Books, is one of my recent reads and star of this weeks bookworm Wednesday.It is set in France, in the years between the wars and has a really engaging storyline. In the summer of 1919 a newborn baby is left in a basket outside the home of a childless couple in Normandy.
