Carson McCullers (1917-1967) was the author of numerous works of fiction and nonfiction, including The Heart is a Lonely Hunter. Born in Columbus, Georgia, on February 16, 1926, she began a poetry column and evolved into a published School of the Arts in New York, where she was seventeen, but lacking money for tuition, she never attended classes.

The Member of the Wedding, by Carson McCullers

Carson McCullers

The Member of the Wedding, published in 1946, is the third novel by American author Carson McCullers. It is a southern novel (with the food, climate, pace, race, etc.), but also a universal one (with the emotions, the universal struggles, the love, the pain, etc.). People who like that kind of thing, along with lots of humor and lots of pain, all beautifully written, should definitely look for it. Personally, I found Frankie a bit loud-mouthed as Frankie, playing the part to the full, screaming and shouting and squirming, and simply trying too hard.

The Member of the Wedding (1952) - Rotten Tomatoes

The Member of the Wedding is a lyrical experience; you have to feel its rhythm and emotion, not just the literal meaning of its language.

The Member of the Wedding by Carson McCullers

The Member of the Wedding is a subtle but loud novel. It comes packaged with all the traits of Southern Gothic but it transcends the genre in such a way to defy both its foundations and some of what has been called only the flavor of social anxiety.
